Dear South Brunswick Families,

I wanted to send a quick reminder that schools will be closed for students this Thursday, October 19th, in observance of Diwali. While our students will not be in attendance, the district will take this day to provide professional development to our staff. Professional development is a cornerstone to any high-functioning organization and is especially of great importance in the field of education.

Staff use this time to explore new innovations, hone skills in a variety of areas as well as take time to collaborate and develop meaningful and powerful programming for your children. South Brunswick takes having a full day for this work very seriously and the result is that great things wind up happening for kids.

And to all celebrating Diwali – wishing you peace, prosperity, happiness and good fortune.

Thank you,
